

EXP. PENROSE, SAYS ROOSEVELT IN NEW ATTACK

Police Grafting No Worse
Than Senator's Offense, Says Colonel.

"I'D THROW HIM OUT."

No Enthusiasm for Taft; the Fight Is Between "Me and Wilson."

OSTER DAY, N. Y., Aug. 28.—Comparing the testimony before the Senate committee which is investigating campaign expenditures with the conditions disclosed in New York by the police investigation, Col. Roosevelt declared today that Senator Penrose, on his own testimony, should be expelled from the Senate. He had taken this position, he said, in the letter he will send to Senator Clapp.

"On his own testimony I would have Senator Penrose thrown out of the Senate," Col. Roosevelt declared.

The Colonel made this statement after he had read from what purported to be an extract from Mr. Penrose's testimony before the Senate committee to the effect that he had advised John D. Archbold of the Standard Oil Company to make a second contribution to the 1904 campaign, lest the company encounter difficulties in certain quarters. Col. Roosevelt said that in his opinion this was an offer of protection from the Government in return for a contribution, and that it did not differ essentially from the sale of police protection in New York.

The real fight in the coming campaign, Col. Roosevelt declared, would be between himself and Gov. Wilson. He expressed the belief that President Taft's supporters did not expect to elect him.

SAYS HIS FIGHT IN PENNSYLVANIA IS WON.

The Colonel made this statement in commenting upon the situation in Pennsylvania, after he had read a report that supporters of his on the Republican ticket in Pennsylvania as candidates for electors would be withdrawn on condition that no State ticket be placed in the field by Senator Penrose.

"I know nothing about the State ticket matter in Pennsylvania," said Col. Roosevelt, "but it will be recalled that after the Progressive Convention at Chicago I made public the statement that I had insisted that in Pennsylvania, under the peculiarities of the Pennsylvania election law, it was necessary that the Roosevelt electors should go on a separate ticket—the Washington ticket."

"We will beat Mr. Taft in Pennsylvania a good deal worse than we beat him in the primary, and personally I am convinced that we shall carry Pennsylvania without difficulty for the Progressive ticket. There, as everywhere else, the fight is between Mr. Wilson and myself. The Taft supporters as shown by the action of Messrs. Penrose and Archbold, have not the slightest idea of electing Mr. Taft. Moreover, they care little about it. Their aim is to beat me, and beat the forces behind me, because they stand for privilege and against the people; they care nothing whether they elect Mr. Wilson or Mr. Taft, if only they can beat the Progressive party and prevent the people from really taking charge of their own government."

Referring again to his controversy with Senator Penrose, Colonel Roosevelt said he was delighted at the turn taken by the investigation because it was something capital campaign matter for him, such as the Lorimer bill gave him in the spring campaign.

PENROSE FILLED WAR CHEST WITH AMMUNITION.

"Lorimer is done for me," he said. "I am satisfied that Senator Penrose is filling the war chest with ammunition again."

The Colonel replied to inquiries as to why William Loeb Jr. of New York had not acted so long by saying that he had been reluctant to summon his private secretary into any controversy, but that when Mr. Loeb offered his aid he felt the time had come for him to tell everything he knew about the matter.

"Mr. Loeb was not only my private secretary," the Colonel continued, "but friend and adviser. He was cognizant of everything that went on during the 1904 campaign. He was present habitually at most of the interviews that I had with different men."

"I may add that until Mr. Loeb came out to see me the other day on his own initiative I had not seen him for some months, for I knew he was for Mr. Taft, as he was holding his commission."

Col. Roosevelt added that his files of letters bearing upon the whole matter had been removed to a safe place, and that there was no danger of their being stolen or mislaid.

Four Hurt in Somersaulting Auto.

BOULDER, Col., Aug. 28.—Miss Madeline Ripley of Boulder met with a serious injury, Barbara Ripley sustained a broken arm and scalp wounds, and Mrs. B. H. McCord and Miss Tuttle, both of Kansas City, were painfully hurt last night when an automobile, driven by Ralph Reed, fell off of a mountain road, turned three somersaults and landed at the bottom of Boulder canyon. Reed had turned out his car in an attempt to pass an approaching car when the accident happened.

Some Honor.

"Did your daughter graduate with honors?"

"Yes, indeed. She had the honor of wearing the most expensive dress of a girl in her class."

BRITISH THREATEN TO APPEAL PANAMA CASE TO THE HAGUE

Reaffirm Protest Against Discrimination in Favor of U. S. Ships on Canal.

WASHINGTON, Aug. 28.—Great Britain has reaffirmed its protest against the Panama Canal bill. In a note filed today with the State Department by A. Mitchell Innes, charge of the British Embassy here, it was stated that if a satisfactory agreement could not be reached Great Britain would appeal to the Hague tribunal for arbitration.

The note submitted today says Great Britain will give careful consideration to both the bill and the message President Taft sent to Congress relating to discrimination in favor of American coastwise shipping in the canal. If, after due consideration, it is found that no satisfactory agreement can be reached in the matter Great Britain declares that it will be necessary to appeal to arbitration.

WALL STREET

The stock market at the outset of trading today gave promise of continuing further yesterday's smart advance when Steel, Reading and Union Pacific displayed a rising tendency, but the upturn quickly encountered stiff resistance. Profit taking during the first hour reduced the list on an average of half a point.

Subsequent dealings slowly worked to lower ranges.

Prices were subjected to continuous selling pressure in the afternoon period. Liquidation in Reading, Steel, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific reduced these issues about a point below their morning figures.

Bottom levels were made at closing time without any recovery in progress.

Six Servants for Five Kahns.

That it is "black water" in transit, and that it is now shown by the passenger list of the Cunarder Lualaba, which sails for Liverpool today. Customarily crowded with passengers, the big liner on this trip will take out a scant hundred in her saloon. Of this number six go as attendants to Mrs. Otto Kahn and her four children. Her retinue consisting of three maids, a special stewardess, a governess and a nurse.

HIS BABY STOLEN WHEN HE IGNORES BLACK HANDERS

Passaic Banker's Child Lured Away by Gift of Five Cents.

Police of a dozen towns are looking for three-year-old Frank Cannizzaro, son of Charles Cannizzaro, a well-to-do banker at No. 27 Aspen street, Passaic, N. J. Following the receipt of Black Hand threats by his father, the boy disappeared yesterday while at play in front of his home.

A playmate of the lad told his father he was carried away in a wagon by a stranger who coaxed him with a gift of five cents. Mrs. Annie Fall, a neighbor, told Cannizzaro she had observed such a wagon in the neighborhood for three days, marked "Express," and bearing the number "28 Chrystie street." She described the driver, and others said the wagon drove away apparently toward Fort Lee.

Cannizzaro reported the matter to Commissioner Waldo after he and friends searched the east side and found that No. 28 Chrystie street had been removed to make way for the Manhattan Bridge approach. Four years ago, Cannizzaro said, a Black Hand letter demanded $5,000 of him, and three months ago another threatened that the child would be stolen if the father did not leave $500 at a certain place. He ignored the letter.

Cannizzaro told the police the child was stolen two years ago, but returned in a few days. When he disappeared this time he wore red rompers, tan shoes and black stockings. He has brown eyes and light brown hair, and a vaccination scar on his left arm. Cannizzaro has been a baker in Passaic for fourteen years. He spent last night with a detective making an automobile trip through nearby Jersey towns.

WOMAN HAUNTS COURT SIX WEEKS TO FIND HER FIANCE; CREATES SCENE

Widow Sent to Bellevue After Verbally Assailing Judge in Tombs Court.

For six weeks a pale-faced little woman has occupied the corner seat of the women's bench in that part of the Tombs Police Court allotted to visitors. She has been in her seat before the Magistrate reached his bench and has remained there, never leaving the court room until adjournment in the afternoon. The attendants have asked her, from day to day, what was her business and always she has replied that she was "waiting for a case."

Today she startled the spectators by suddenly rising in her seat. Pointing an accusing finger at Magistrate Preschl, she said: "This affidavit business has got to stop!"

Detective Walter Williams, warrant officer of the court, brought the woman before the Magistrate, where she asked what she meant by her statement.

"Just this, Your Honor," she replied. "I am waiting for the case of Solomon Harris, who has been arrested on a charge of bigamy. I was engaged to be married to this man out in Portland, Ore. He was arrested there and brought here to New York. I followed him and all these affidavits that are being brought before you have something to do with him. I have worried over the matter until I am fairly ill, but I must not leave this court until I see him."

Upon further questioning by the magistrate the woman said she was Mrs. Ida Ruseman, thirty-five years old, a widow, and that she lived at No. 216 East Twenty-first street with her two children.

"Do you mean you have left your children day after day, alone and unsecured, to come here?" asked the magistrate.

"They can get along all right," the woman replied, "but I must find Harris."

Mrs. Ruseman has at all times appeared well dressed in court, in neat tailored suits and fashionable hats. She said, however, that she ate very little and did not like to leave the courtroom for luncheon, fearing Harris might be brought in while she was away. Dr. McGuffee, attached to the Tombs prison, where a Solomon Harris is a prisoner on a minor offense, Mrs. Ruseman said he was not the man she was interested in.

Mrs. Ruseman was sent to Bellevue Hospital for twelve days' observation in the psychopathic ward. Her children will be cared for by the Children's Society, until a report is made on her mental condition.

MURDERED WOMAN TO GET ADDRESS OF SWEETHEART

Slayer Held by Impulse to Visit Scene of Crime Delays Flight and Is Caught.

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 28.—Separated from the girl to whom he had been paying attentions and her address refused him, Norman B. McCleary strangled her mother to death. He stole $50 from his victim with which he went to Washington to seek the daughter. Arrested there on suspicion, McCleary was brought back here and today confessed to State's Attorney Wolfinger the details of his crime.

The murder is twenty-three years old. He has been paying attentions to Miss Lupah Henry, a young girl living in this town. The girl's mother, Mrs. Nannie Henry, objected to McCleary, and warned him to keep away from her daughter. Instead they continued their meetings in secret.

The mother discovered this and three weeks ago sent the daughter to Washington to visit relatives. According to McCleary he called on Mrs. Henry on Aug. 15 and demanded that she tell him where her daughter was. The woman refused and told him that he would never be given an opportunity to see the girl again.

McCleary says he brooded over the refusal until night and then decided to force the mother to tell. He went to the house after dark and reentered his demand. Receiving another refusal he choked the woman to death. In her stocking he found $50 and a letter showing the Washington address of Lupah. With the money he went to the capital but his absence had aroused suspicion and a general alarm to the police resulted in his arrest.

Brought back here McCleary insisted that he was innocent. After an all night questioning, however, he broke down today and told the whole story of the crime.

According to State's Attorney Wolfinger the ancient theory that a murderer is always drawn to the scene of the crime was verified in McCleary's case. In his confession he admits that after killing Mrs. Henry on Aug. 15 he could not leave the vicinity for two days and that each night he was drawn by an irresistible impulse to the upper floor of the Henry house where the dead body lay. It was not until the final visit, he swore, that he finally found the letter which gave the Washington address of the girl.

The confession is signed by McCleary and witnessed by six officials who heard it. It tells in detail how Mrs. Henry fought hard for her life but was overpowered by McCleary's superior strength. Her clothing was disarranged, and McCleary searched it and found the money which he later used to pay his fare to Washington.

DETECTIVE TO ANSWER FOR EMPLOYING BOY AS A "STOOL PIGEON"

Fourteen-Year-Old Lad Paid to Get Evidence Against Alleged Disorderly House.

Pierce Pool, a detective under Inspector Cahillane of the First District, was suspended last night from further police duty and was today arraigned before Magistrate Preschl in the Tombs Police Court on a charge of employing the morals of a fourteen-year-old boy. According to Officer Tobin of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children, Pool had employed Israel Becker, a newsboy, to get evidence against an alleged disorderly house. At the time of the hearing in the case of the alleged disorderly house Magistrate Preschl reprimanded Pool for employing a boy of that age as a "stool pigeon," and placed the case in the hands of Officer Tobin for investigation.

"As I have expressed my opinion of a policeman who employs a fourteen-year-old child to get evidence against disorderly houses," said Magistrate Preschl, "I am unwilling to hear this case. The attorney for the policeman doubtless knows I have expressed my opinion of such methods in open court. For this reason I believe that it should be heard by another magistrate."

Aaron J. Levy, counsel for Pool, told the Court that the defendant had an excellent police record and has been in the department for seven years. Pool's record was in the hands of the detective, and Magistrate Preschl has received a number of letters vouching for his heretofore good record.

When Becker was called as a witness by Pool in the case of the alleged disorderly house, the boy told the Magistrate he had given his age to the detective as fourteen years and after this had been taken to a house in Essex street and given a dollar by Pool to carry out his suggestions. Pool declared there was no criminal intent in his actions and said he believed the boy was more than fourteen years old.

On recommendation of Assistant District Attorney Wilnot the case against Pool will be heard before Magistrate Murphy on Sept. 7. Magistrate Preschl then paroled him in the custody of Attorney Levy for examination.

KAISER, MUCH IMPROVED, ENJOYS A LONG WALK.

In Good Spirits, He Again Takes Up
Plans for His Visit to Switzerland.

CASSEL, Hesse-Nassau, Germany, Aug. 28.—Emperor William felt so well today that he rose at an early hour and before breakfast enjoyed a long walk in the park surrounding Wilhelmshohe Castle. The physicians in attendance at the Imperial castle report that the rheumatic pains in the neck from which His Majesty had suffered have practically ceased, while the swelling of the glands has almost entirely disappeared and they are resuming their normal condition.

The Emperor is in excellent spirits and the carrying out of the trip to Switzerland, where he is to participate in the army manoeuvres, appears more probable than it did a few days ago. A marked improvement in the weather adds to the chances of the original programme being fulfilled.
